

Technique with Design

The best just got better – The connection of technique and design

Duofix mounting element for wall-hung WC

Duofix mounting element for corner installation

Quality of life is becoming more important. We want to enjoy the better things in life whilst taking more and more time to relax and unwind. Our living environment has become increasingly important, reflecting our aspirations and desires. The bathroom is an important element of our living experience and its design is central to our relaxation and enjoyment.

The Geberit frame system provides support for wall hung sanitary ware allowing designers to create modern bathrooms without the constraints associated with floor standing sanitary ware.

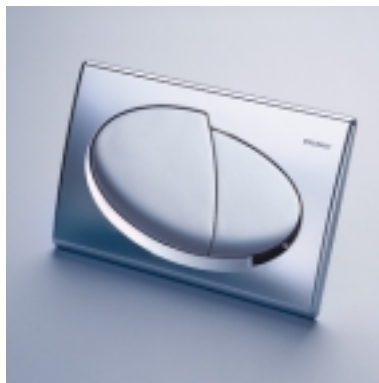

The only visible part of the Geberit PreWall system is the actuator plate, with six new stunning designs. It easily also allows access to the Geberit technology behind the wall.
